

Loftus, Paul (L&DR-LON)

From: [redacted]
Sent: 24 February 2003 22:51
To: David Kelly
Subject: Re: [redacted]

Thanks so much for answering. Could I say something along the lines of "a former UN inspector?" An appellation of some sort?

It would be wonderful to have you, under some guise

----- Original Message -----

From: David Kelly
To: [redacted]
Sent: Monday, February 24, 2003 9:30<sup>4</sup>PM
Subject: RE: [redacted]

[redacted]
Good to hear from you. I hope that all is well.

It is hectic and I am in New York working this week at the UK Mission to the UN. I may be able to write something next week but it would have to be unattributable.

[redacted] last details were tel [redacted] and email [redacted]
address [redacted]

Very best wishes,

David

-----Original Message-----

From: [redacted]
Sent: 24 February 2003 19:31
To: david kelly
Subject: [redacted]

Hello David. I find you busy, I think

I have agreed to set up, starting this week, an Iraqi side to the Institute for War and Peace Reporting [redacted]. In a first instance this will be an electronic publication of Iraqi (and a few non-Iraqi) voices to parallel IWPR's other titles and to highlight Iraqi perspectives in the coming weeks.

I am wondering if you - or someone you recommend - could write me something on C/BW. It needn't be all that long. The Today programme was talking the other morning of the danger of BW seeping into al Qaeda hands before the war. I found that quite an interesting angle. But I am sure there are others.

Dare I hope? . . . Not this week, but perhaps next?

Do you by any chance have [redacted] email? I have only a phone [redacted] - which is probably out of date. The ref. to him in the Guardian today is intriguing.

COM 14 / 0059

A bientot, mshallah!

COM 14 / 0060